WINDING ROADS

I love a road that twists and turns,
A road that winds about
Down the vales and up the hillsides,
Threading in and out...
A road that holds some new surprises
With every step you stray —
A road with unexpected corners all along the way,
Life's a road of many turnings
Where it's hard to guess
What is waiting round the corner,
Pain or happiness.
Frowning mountains dark with cloud
Or valleys of delight
Shadows falling round the path,
Or sunshine warm and bright,
Need we fear for what there might be waiting
Round the bend...
Knowing that the love of God
Goes with us to the end?
And though the twilight deepens
As the sunset way we roam
The last turn is the best of all.
Because it takes us home.

THE WAY OF A LIE

First, somebody told it,
Then the room wouldn't hold it,
So the busy tongues rolled it
Till they got it outside.
Then the crowd came across it,
And never once lost it,
But tossed it and tossed it,
Till it grew long and wide.
This lie brought forth others,
Both sisters and brothers,
And fathers and mothers —
A terrible crew.
And while headlong they hurried
The people they flurried,
And troubled and worried,
As lies always do.
And so evil-bodied,
This monster lay goaded,
Till at last it exploded
In smoke and in shame.
Then from mud and from mire
The pieces flew higher,
And hit the sad liar,
And killed a good name.
