Beatitudes for Friends of the Aged

Blessed are they who understand
My faltering step, my palsied hand.
Blessed are they who know my ears today
Must strain to catch the things they say.
Blessed are those who seem to know
My eyes are dim, and my wits are slow.
Blessed are they who looked away
When coffee was spilled at the table today.
Blessed are they with a cheery smile
Who stop to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they who never say
You've told that story twice today.
Blessed are they who know the ways
To bring back memories of yesterdays
Blessed are they who make it known
I'm loved, respected, and not alone.
Blessed are they who ease the days
On my journey home in living ways.
