THE FOLLOWERS

They followed Him by thousands when He took some fish and bread
And a banquet in the desert by His miracle was spread.
They sang aloud, "Hosanna!" and they shouted, "Praise His name!"
When in an hour of glory to Jerusalem He came.
They followed when He told them of a kingdom and a throne,
But when He went to Calvary, He went there all alone.

It seems that many people still would follow Him today
If He only went to places where everything was play.
For the kingdom that they're seeking isn't one that's made of thorns.
Oh, they'll follow for the fishes over land and over sea,
And they'll join the church at Zion, but not at Calvary.

It's so easy, friends, to follow when the nets are full of fish,
When the loaves are spread before you and you're eating all you wish,
When no lands, nor lots, nor houses, and no friendships are at stake,
When there's no mob to mock you and you have no cross to take.
But you'll need some faith to follow down through Gethsemane,
And you'll need some love to follow up to Calvary!
